JDW: You may recall my long and detailed account to a colonel on what the military records should show on me. He has also checked "the earliest versions of the automated DCII" to the time of alleged destruction, after which the new tapes take over.

"Surprisingly, we got a 'no record;' I rather expected to get a reference to your file from your Army and OSS days. I conclude that your files was destroyed by the Army prior to the automation of the DCII."

Depersonalized, that's what I am! They can't even find that I was a soldier. Alas poor benefits! HW 7/25/75
